

Environmental policy

We are committed to continuously improving our environmental performance in partnership with all relevant interested parties, protecting the environment and complying with all binding obligations. We are aware of the far-reaching responsibility that is crucial for the long-term success of our company.

Avoiding environmental pollution

We actively strive to avoid environmental pollution. If this is not fully possible, we undertake to significantly reduce the consumption of raw materials, energy and water, waste generation and greenhouse gas emissions or, if further reduction would be technically or economically disproportionate, to stabilise them at a responsible level.

Environmental monitoring and product life cycle assessment

We continuously monitor the impact of our activities on our surroundings and the environment. We analyse the environmental impact of our products throughout their entire life cycle in order to promote sustainable alternatives and improvements.

Transparent supply chains

We expect our supply partners to identify environmental risks in their companies and supply chains and to take appropriate measures.

Promoting environmental awareness

We promote environmental awareness among our employees through targeted training measures in order to establish a sustainable mindset.

Transparent communication

We maintain an open dialogue with all stakeholders to inform them about the environmental impact of our company and our products.

Continuous improvement

We have established clear processes to regularly review and improve our environmental policy, environmental goals and compliance with our management principles.

Environmental protection is a fundamental management task. We expect all employees to act responsibly and in an environmentally friendly manner by actively living the values and principles of our environmental policy. In this way, we contribute to shaping a liveable and sustainable future.

Pfaffenhausen, 01 October 2025

Bernd Schweinberger
Managing director

Hagen Weber
Managing director

Jessica Graf
Sustainability Manager
Environmental Management Representative